

Plans for Amateur Intercity and Post Season Games to Be Made Soon

AMATEURS EXPECT MEETING THIS WEEK

Plans for Intercity and Post Season Series Games Looked for When Board of Governors Get Together With the League Heads—Good Battles Carded in Next Two Days.

By BRYAN MORSE.

The big meeting of the amateur association is expected to be called this week when the board of governors, which includes President Robert H. Young, Clark Griffith, and Fred Denner, will meet with the various league presidents to talk over and decide upon the two big events of amateur baseball, the post-season series for the city championship and the intercity series, that with the winner of the Richmond title.

There has been some talk of allowing all the winners of the various league pennants to be drawn out and matched irrespective of strength, letting the series take the aspect of the drawings as in tennis or golf. This idea appears to have met with favor and the old idea of classifying the teams in two or three classes, holding separate series in each case and letting the winners meet in the finals, will probably be done away with.

Young, Griffith, and Denner will all be gotten together for the first time since early spring and much business is expected to be carried out. There is considerable detail incident to the arrangement of both series and while President Young has pretty well worked out the general plan, it is yet much to be done by the association.

It is not unlikely that Clark Griffith will offer the use of the baseball park for the proposed series with Richmond, which opens here on Labor Day. The winner of the Richmond series is slated to appear against the winner of the post-season series here for two games while the Washington winner will be in Richmond the next Saturday.

The series of games on the White Lot Ellipse between the Agraria and Interior, the first contest starting tomorrow, is expected to furnish the fans with considerable sport. The teams are tied up for the leadership now, and the three-game series is expected to land the title for the year and to nominate the team which will seek the city title.

Tuesday the Bankers and Cornell are scheduled to hook up together at the Boehling to start.

If Boehling faces Levenez tomorrow there will be a tight battle in store for the Richmond Thunderbolt in his effort to make it twelve straight. Boehling should win with any sort of hitting behind him, but Levenez is going to have a lot to say before we can figure on a win for the Griffins.

Shaw is at work.

Jim Shaw, sent to York by Griff for further seasoning, is sure to come back in almost every game which he works there with the veteran Hackett. Yesterday in facing the Allentown team Shaw struck out the entire line-up of his opponents, making it ten in all before he was through. Yet he lost the game by 5 to 3.

A merry fight.

Cobb and Jackson are likely to show something in the line of battle for the honor of premier slugger of the league. Tied now for the first time this season, the two appear to be going at a somewhat slower clip than that at which they started the season. It is maintained that Cobb has been slumping of late, although his mark falls to show it.

Cup fund booms.

There appears to be no let-up in the contributions to the Walter Johnson cup fund, and the fans are certainly coming forth with the money in the right sort of spirit. Johnson fully appreciates what is being done for him, you can bet on that, and will show it when the time comes. The fans should not expect too much, for Walter is the most modest of fellows.

McLoughlin's win.

It was McLoughlin's steadiness in the face of defeat, his calm assurance and ability in the pinches that brought the American pair through yesterday. At the same time it must be reckoned that McLoughlin has shown endurance that is almost uncanny. He has played in numerous sets since his arrival in England, and has been called upon to face almost every sort of crisis. Time came when he failed, but he did not allow discouragement to enter into the calculations.

Sullivan's changes.

James E. Sullivan intimates that several changes in the A. A. U. rules are likely. At the same time he fails to observe several rules which could be changed along other lines for the betterment of the sport. Aside from the few unimportant details up for revision, why not have a thorough overhauling? Just at this time before the annual elections there is something in publicity. That's the answer.

Saturday's races.

Saturday's swimming races should draw well. Were it not for the fact that next Saturday is Walter Johnson Day at the ball yard, there is no doubt but that the events on the river would be the main attraction. As it is, there will be enough sport to go around, and those who take to aquatics should be on the job. It will be distinctly worth while.

A large bunch of Richmond fans are going to take in the game tomorrow when Joe Boehling starts. The Richmond hurler is at home today and will be back in time to try and stop the Brownies for his twelfth straight win. As far as rooting goes, we will award the palm to the Richmond fans. They are there in several ways, and should be royally welcomed tomorrow.

THREE CHALLENGE WARRIOR OF BOUT

Scrappers Eager to Get Action From Victor at Ardmore on Thursday Night.

Three challenges are already out for the winner of the Adamson-Munger bout scheduled to take place at Ardmore on Thursday night, when the victor gets together in the main attraction at the Maryland club.

Charlie Egan, who is now at Colonial Beach, writes Pat O'Connor that he is willing to tackle the winner of Thursday's bout and Jimmy Dougherty, who boxed Tommy Lowe fifteen rounds some weeks ago, is also anxious to tackle either Adamson or Munger. Shanley Gardner, who is in the semi-wind-up, wants a crack at either of the two principals provided he likes his man on Thursday.

Swatts Adamson, who came into local favor some time ago in one of the preliminaries, is meeting Fred Munger, the bout being scheduled to go ten rounds at Ardmore on Thursday night. The go is billed as being for the welterweight title of the South, and should prove a great attraction.

Finals to Be Played In July Golf Tourney

Finals in the July handicap golf play at the Columbia Country Club will be played during the present week. Semi-final rounds of the four sixteen were completed yesterday. J. Floyd Cissel and Henry L. West winning the first sixteen by scores of 21 and 18, respectively.

William O. Gilbert (16) and J. E. Lapham (21) coming out ahead in the second sixteen, Frank Gorman (21) and Harold E. Davis (16) being the winners in the third, and J. A. Shaffer (23) and W. J. Eynon (16) reaching the final break in the fourth.

All of these matches were good ones, that between J. Floyd Cissel and R. W. Cox in the first sixteen being one of the best, Cissel winning by 4 up and 3 to play, at thirty-six holes. The tournament governing the handicaps in this tourney provide that the better player shall start his opponent as many holes "up" as half the difference in their handicaps, so when the players are all even at the end of the first eighteen holes, another round is necessary.

Johnston and Clothier Will Clash in Finals

BOSTON, Mass., July 27.—William Johnston, today acclaimed the successor of Maurice E. McLoughlin by virtue of his great win over William Clothier in the semi-finals of the Longwood club championship, will face Gardner in the final tomorrow afternoon.

Touchard and Washburn will face Niles and Dabney to see which shall win the Eastern doubles title, and even at Yale, and the result has been that the sport has been taken up more generally by the undergraduate bodies and that new men are developing for the varsity boats even if they have not had the opportunity of rowing in their freshman shells.

According to the present intentions of the rowing authorities the new plan will go into effect as soon as the varsity men in the fall. Plasted already has put in a month repairing boats, and when the time for rowing arrives he will have a flotilla ready for the oarsmen.

Crews are to be organized in the various university dormitories and in the various departments of the university. Special races will be rowed both in the fall and spring by these crews, and as soon as a man in one of the department crews shows that he is of varsity calibre he will be transferred to the varsity squad and placed with the oarsmen at Edgewater.

By this new plan Rice will be relieved of all the carry about of the varsity squad needs replenishing he will be at liberty to call on the college club for men.

PLAISTED TO AID COLUMBIA'S CREWS

New Plan Brings Him in as Assistant to Rice Under Own Department.

NEW YORK, July 27.—Columbia does not intend to let the season of the Foughesque regatta of last month, in which the Blue and White crews were beaten badly, go unlearned, and already has taken steps to build up its rowing material for next year. In view of the fact that the varsity squad will be crippled badly by the withdrawal of four veterans and the fact that the freshman boat this year was the poorest Columbia has had in years, the rowing authorities on Morningside Heights resolved to engage Fred Plasted, an old sculler whose experience dates back to the days of Ned Hanlan, as assistant coach and place him in charge of the university boatmen.

By this step the Columbia crew management plans to maintain two separate branches of rowing, one having to do with the training of the university and freshman crews, which will be under the sole direction of Jim Rice and will be conducted at Edgewater, and the other being for the development of material and general university rowing under Plasted at the Gould house on the New York shore. This is a plan that has been followed with success at Harvard, Cornell, Wisconsin and more recently at Yale, and the result has been that the sport has been taken up more generally by the undergraduate bodies and that new men are developing for the varsity boats even if they have not had the opportunity of rowing in their freshman shells.

According to the present intentions of the rowing authorities the new plan will go into effect as soon as the varsity men in the fall. Plasted already has put in a month repairing boats, and when the time for rowing arrives he will have a flotilla ready for the oarsmen.

Crews are to be organized in the various university dormitories and in the various departments of the university. Stays in International.

MONTREAL, July 27.—While there have been reports that Montreal's International League franchise may be disposed of to some other city better located geographically, President Lachapelle of the Montreal club said today that he had received no offers for the Montreal franchise except from people who were ready to pay, and announced that he was going to stay in the game until he had a winning team.

Sheriff Stops Bout.

PUT-IN-BAY, Ohio, July 27.—The scheduled eight-round bout between Kid Julian, of Syracuse, N. Y., and Cal Delaney, of Cleveland, feather weights, was stopped two minutes before the clock of the last round rested, after a fight between the two men, neither of the boys had taken much punishment.

WOOD HOLDS TITLE IN WESTERN GOLF

Defeats Allis, of Milwaukee, for Honor by a Score of 4 and 3.

CHICAGO, July 27.—Warren Wood, of Homewood, is today the object of congratulations from golf players and followers of that game throughout this section, as a result of winning the Western Golf Association championship at Homewood Country Club by defeating E. P. Allis, 20, of Milwaukee, 4 and 3. Allis, who started the afternoon round 4 down, was 6 down at the twenty-second hole, but he braced and in a strong effort to recover his lost ground won two of the next five holes, and turned with a handicap of only three against him.

Wood had the advantage of playing over his home course, with every foot of which he is familiar. His last winning putt was emotional, curving his ball to take advantage of the inequalities of the green, he laid his ball from the corner of the green to the rim of the cup. Allis was playing four and he picked up his ball.

Wood was runner-up in the Western last year, and runner-up in the national in 1910. He is one of the strongest tournament players in the country. Allis is champion of Wisconsin.

The cards follow:
MORNING ROUND.
Allis, out, 4 5 3 4 3 3 5 2-41.
Wood, out, 4 5 3 4 3 3 5 2-38.

Dulaney Is High Gun At Analoatan Shoot

First honor in the weekly shoot of the Analoatan Gun Club is held by W. D. Dulaney, who killed forty-three targets out of a possible fifty in the monthly spoon shoot. Adding to this record, Dulaney figured highest in the singles by getting 121 birds out of 140 shot at. He was tied for second place in the doubles with A. D. Parsons.

E. W. Ford won second prize in Class B of the spoon shoot, when he smashed forty-two targets out of fifty, while in Class C, M. D. Hogan was best with a score of thirty-eight down out of the same number. Miles Taylor broke thirty-seven in Class D. All the winners shot from twenty yards except Hogan, who was allowed eighteen. Each member received a silver spoon.

Eugene Culver led the members in the doubles, as he dropped only four targets out of twenty-four. E. W. Ford got 112 out of 125 in the singles.

Wynkoop Best Shot.

By breaking sixty-three targets out of a possible seventy-five, Dr. J. C. Wynkoop today holds the bi-weekly title of the White Flyer Gun Club. George A. Emmons finished with the same percentage, although he did not shoot at as many birds. Emmons got forty-two out of fifty.

In the fourth event at fifteen targets Dr. Wynkoop lost but one, while in the second he broke thirteen out of fifteen birds.

McLOUGHLIN IN FACES DIXON TOMORROW

American Tennis Team Is Nearing Davis Cup as Result of Yesterday's Win.

WIMBLEDON, England, July 27.—Maurice F. McLoughlin, American champion tennis player, whose heroic work with the veteran Hackett, in the doubles against Roper-Barrett and Parke yesterday enabled the American team to win the match, will probably meet C. P. Dixon in the singles tomorrow.

Should McLoughlin lose it will be up to Williams to defeat Parke, whose victory over the Britisher has put the American team a step nearer the Davis Cup, and while McLoughlin is expected to meet Dixon, who succumbed to Williams in another match, there is every indication that the result may hinge upon the Williams-Parke match scheduled for Friday.

Should McLoughlin lose it will be up to Williams to defeat Parke, whose victory over the Britisher has put the American team a step nearer the Davis Cup, and while McLoughlin is expected to meet Dixon, who succumbed to Williams in another match, there is every indication that the result may hinge upon the Williams-Parke match scheduled for Friday.

Yesterday the English defenders tried every method known to tennis to break through the Americans, but McLoughlin had recovered, and lost but one of his service games in the entire match.

Once Hackett played the game which his opponents liked by feeding them low volleys at the net, while the Englishmen formed an absolute stone wall. They made every possible return to Hackett, recognizing in him the weak line of the American defense.

Although often tempted, McLoughlin did not coach on his partner's serves, often heroically allowing him to take the overhead balls which he himself would have to return. Toward the end of the match Hackett became more sure in his volleys and lobs, which had been his weak point before.

A moment later McLoughlin smashed his racket in the fourth set and the Englishmen were within a point of winning the set and the match, but the Californian never faltered and pulled his own service out of the fire.

Ask Postponement.

NEW YORK, July 27.—The committee of the Motor Boat Club of America has cabled to the British Motor Yacht Club asking that the races for the British international trophy be postponed for four weeks. This action was taken on Friday night, when it was found that at this time it was impossible to get three boats ready to send abroad. Mackay Edger, who won the trophy last year, is in town, and the committee told him of the predicament. Mr. Edger said his boat was the main reliance of the British in these races, and that he was anxious that there should be a first of November, if necessary, to let the challengers get ready. He sent a cablegram urging the British committee to agree to a postponement, explaining that engine troubles had made it impossible to ship the boats on time.
